STUDIO GANG POLICE STATION

1700 WATCH BOX Colonial U.S. (16 ft²)

The earliest policing structures emerge with the watch system. These small wooden constructions include a bench and a small stove and store extra lamp oil and wicks.

1850 FIRST STATIONS Multiple U.S. Cities (1,800 ft²)

After decades of using spare space within other civic institutions, police departments establish their own station buildings.

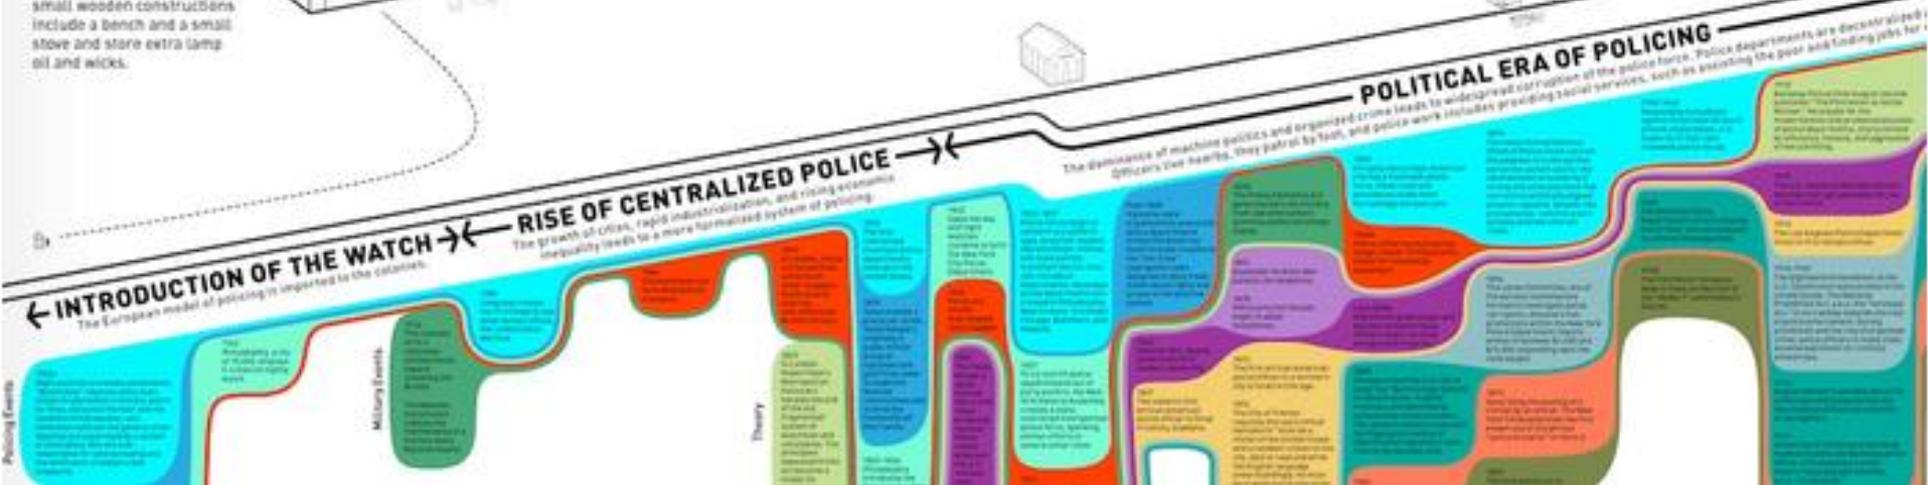

1890 ROW HOUSE STATION Multiple U.S. Cities (1,000 ft²)

Stations are embedded in the rapidly densifying urban fabric.

1890 CALL BOX Multiple U.S. Cities (1 ft²)

Call boxes appear on the streets shortly after the invention of the telephone. Police and trusted members of the community have access to make calls to the police station.
